DeLadurantey Law Office and Wallace Law File Class Action Lawsuit Against AON For Denying Travel Insurance Claims After Southwest Airline Flight Cancellations Following Nationwide Winter Storm

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

December 5, 2023

MILWAUKEE, WI – DeLadurantey Law Office, LLC, and Wallace Law, Inc., announces the filing of a class action lawsuit—Milwaukee County Case Number 2023CV8951—against AON Risk Service Central, Inc. (AON), relating to travel insurance denials following the Southwest Airlines flight cancellations due to Winter Storm Elliot.

The class action complaint alleges that AON refused to pay Trip Cancellation claims for travel plans that were derailed when Southwest ceased operations last December during and shortly after Winter Storm Elliot.

If your travel insurance claims were denied last December relating to Southwest Airlines cancellations, if you have information about these events, or would like more information about this class action, please contact Wallace Law at (920) 276-8320 or DeLadurantey Law Office at (414) 377-0515 to discuss.

Nathan DeLadurantey exclusively practices consumer law, consumer rights, and class action cases. Nathan regularly lectures on consumer law topics and has received awards from the Eastern District Bar Association for his pro bono contributions to the legal community and the Wisconsin Law Journal for his work on consumer matters.

After over a decade representing many of Wisconsin's largest insurers, Attorney Justin Wallace founded Wallace Law, Inc. a Wisconsin-based policyholders law firm that fights for people and businesses who have their insurance claims wrongfully denied or who are otherwise treated unfairly by the insurance process.
